ABOUT

My name is Levi Gray and I'm from the small town of Dairy, Oregon. I am 18 years old and I'm currently competing in the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association as well as the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association. I attend college at Mesalands Community College in Tucumcari, New Mexico, where I'm pursuing a Business degree along with a Silversmithing minor, and competing on the rodeo team. Rodeo has always been a huge part of my life.

Ever since I was a little kid I've always wanted to be a bull rider. I grew up always waiting for the weekend so we could go to the rodeo. I would wait for my father to come home from work and be ready for him to buck me on his knee or on his back like a bull. I started riding sheep when I was three years old and now I'm riding bulls professionally. It has never been a question whether this is the life for me.

Over the course of the year, I compete in some of the biggest rodeos in the country such as Fort Worth Stock Show, Reno Rodeo, St. Paul Pro Rodeo and the College National Finals Rodeo. For my permit year, I have some pretty big plans and goals. I plan to finish the year in the top five in the permit standings to qualify for the Permit Finals in Las Vegas this December. Not only do I plan to make the finals but I also plan to win more money than any other bull rider on his permit in history and set a new record.

Next year will be my rookie year. My goal is to go into the 2019 National Finals Rodeo sitting in the top three spots. At the National Finals I will win enough money to be crowned the World Champion of 2019.
